

The Wellesley Natural Resources Commission Invites You to a Celebration of the Life and Conservation Legacy of

Rachel Carson

Saturday, Nov. 17th, 10 am – 11:30 am
Arnold Wakelin Room, Wellesley Library

You're invited to attend this short talk and film presentation about the life and conservation legacy of Rachel Carson. This year marks the 100th anniversary of the birth of Rachel Carson, one of the world's foremost leaders in conservation. Her work as an educator, scientist, and author of several books including Silent Spring, revolutionized America's interest in environmental issues. Rachel Carson's message is invaluable today, in the face of overwhelming challenges posed by global warming, chemical contamination, and environmental destruction. Come learn what you can do to reduce global warming and reduce pesticide use in your home and on your lawn.

Coffee and refreshments will be served at this Free Event
